

McAfee School of Theology and the Stetson School of Business and Economics
Joint Master of Divinity and Master of Business Administration 07-08

Description: The joint M.Div. and M.B.A. degrees integrate a foundation of Business Administration into the local church setting. The Master of Divinity curriculum places students in church administrative ministries through the Mentoring Program and incorporates up to twelve (12) hours of M.B.A. core course work into the ninety (90) hour M.Div. degree. The Master of Business Administration incorporates up to six (6) hours of M.Div. credit into the thirty-six (36) hour MBA degree. A full-time student could expect to finish the two degrees in four years of study.

Eligibility: Applicants must meet the admissions requirements for both the McAfee School of Theology and the Stetson School of Business and Economics. Applicants must submit current scores for the Graduate Management Admission Test (GMAT) and demonstrate completion of the Foundation Courses from the Stetson School of Business and Economics. Applicants may demonstrate foundational course completion by examination or in undergraduate and graduate study by transcript evaluation. The Associate Dean of the Stetson School of Business and Economics must evaluate the student's transcript before he or she is eligible to enter the Master of Business Administration degree coursework.

Requirements: M.Div. students who are eligible for entrance into the M.B.A. degree are required to take the following four M.B.A. core courses: BAA 601 "Managerial Economics," BAA 603 "Managerial Accounting," BAA 605 "Marketing Concepts and Practices," and BAA 609 "Corporation Finance" as the twelve (12) hours of M.B.A. core course work to be credited into their M.Div. degree. If a student has demonstrated prior completion of one or more of the M.B.A. core courses listed above he or she may request substitute electives with the approval of the Associate Dean of the Stetson School of Business and Economics. Students may be credited up to six (6) hours of M.Div. credit into the M.B.A. degree from any two of the following M.Div. courses: ETH 641 "Introduction to Ethics," CRE 683 "Leadership," and CRE 800 "Managing Change and Conflict."
